FROM THE DEAN

DEAN KAREN DIAZ

I am happy to update you on our accomplishments for Fiscal Year 2020. Like the rest of the world, our activities were greatly affected by COVID. We changed how we do some of our work, and ramped up new ways of getting things done and inspiring some innovation on our end.

NEW ACQUISITIONS OF THE WVRHC

The West Virginia & Regional History Center continues to build its West Virginia historic collections and expand its national reach. The Finley Taylor Photographs Collection and heretofore, unpublished Hatfield Family Papers, add new and fresh material to the public domain while the Distinguished West Virginians Archives made important strides with the support of the Curtis H Barnette Endowment and the all-volunteer Acquisitions Committee.

FY20 collections include:

- Sculptor, Frank C. Gaylord, "The Column" Korean War Memorial on the National Mall in Washington DC. (Clarksburg)
- Current WV Poet Laureate, Marc Harshman, 2019 Allen Ginsberg Poetry Award, Appalachian and children's book author (Wheeling)
- Journalist, Charles G. Peters, Founding Editor of the Washington Monthly. (Charleston)
- Admiral Thomas J. Lopez, Retired 4-star admiral, served as Commander in Chief, U.S. Naval Forces Europe/Allied Forces Southern Europe, Former Command of NATO Peace Force for Bosnia-Herzegovina, U.S. Naval Commander Sixth Fleet (Powellton)

The WVRHC is also honored by the contributions of notable WVU alumni and business and industry executives Curtis H. Barnette, Chairman Emeritus of Bethlehem Steel Corporation and Glen Hiner Jr., retired CEO of Owens-Corning Fiberglass and former Senior VP of GE Plastics.

NEW STUDENT ORIENTATION

The New Student Orientation (NSO) Committee successfully moved the WVU Libraries NSO to an online format. We took a different approach to updating the NSO Research Guide and coordinated with an NSO student representative (not affiliated with the Libraries) who presented and recorded an online NSO presentation about the Libraries to specifically address the unique needs of our students this year. Librarians are available to chat during the regular hours we maintain.

COVID PIVOTS

In response to the COVID pandemic shelter in place order, we closed our library facilities to the public on March 19-July 27. That's 130 days. During that time, we stayed very busy with most employees at home and a small crew working in our buildings.

- Items checked out and mailed to homes: 1,337
- Books purchased that could not be borrowed through ILL: 719
- Reference questions answered (Morgantown): 1,242
- Reference questions answered (WVRHC): 164
- Scheduled consultation sessions: 120
- eReserves added (books, articles, streaming media): 389
- ILL filled (articles): 5,208

People were able to continue using online services:

- Visits to our website: 526,727
- Visits to our research guides: 2,232

EVENTS

All programming went from onsite to online. The Art in the Libraries program hosted 7 events during our closure and into the fall semester. These events were attended by 521 community members. An unintended benefit was the participation of our alumni in webinars on a wide array of topics.

2020 REVENUE & EXPENSES

FY20 Library Expenses

FY20 Library Revenue

- Library Service Fees
- University Support
- Student Fees
- Foundation & Donor Support

THANK YOU!

Your support has elevated the work at WVU Libraries. From the Touchdown Challenge to our Appalachian Futures exhibit and to our University Archives, which now include a WV Poet Laureate, a ground-breaking Washington DC journalist and rare Hatfield correspondence, you have made our Libraries stronger. When we needed additional help during the COVID pandemic, you also went above and beyond, helping students and faculty adjust to the all-digital classroom.

Private contributions to the WVU Libraries provide for today and the uncertainties of tomorrow. Thank you for your generous spirit and join us online or in-person for the programs and exhibits that unite Mountaineers in the pursuit of excellence.
